Farmers Urged To Discuss Plans Early On Recruitment

New Federal regulations pertaining to wage determination and recruitment procedures will be in effect this fall according to J. W. Mosley, Jr., manager of the Belle Glade Office of the Florida State Employment Office.

These new regulations were discussed at the two Farm Labor Conferences which Mr. Mosley and two members of his staff, T. C. Eastling and Jim Harris, recently attended. The conferences were called to acquaint state employees with the changes and to stress the fact that they must be adhered to in obtaining labor to supply the needs of this expanding agricultural empire in South Florida.

Although complete instructions have not as yet been received, Mr. Mosley stressed the fact that all growers should come in and discuss their plans and recruitment problems with him.

"It is important that growers come in and talk over their plans at least a month in advance of the date of anticipated need," he urged, "so that the proper attention and time can be given to recruitment and selection of qualified farm workers."

Graber Qualifies As Candidate From West Borough

The political scene in Belle Glade's forthcoming City Election to be held September 10, was altered following last week's HERALD report with William A. (Bill) Graber qualifying August 1, as candidate from West Borough.

A vacancy existed from Central Borough as of 4:00 p. m., Wednesday, August 1.

In the race so far, in addition to Graber, are Negro, William A. Greer, candidate from West Borough; Incumbent Clyde (Racey) Parrish and Aubrey Farmer, both seeking seats on the commission from North Borough.

As of August 1, 1953 voters were registered after 42 names were stricken from the list of people deceased or who had moved away, city clerk Vera Jones reported. "Since that time," she said, "approximately 150 have registered, but they're coming in too slowly considering the estimated 300 eligible in our area."

Belle Glade Junior Chamber of Commerce are again working on a program to GET THE PEOPLE OUT TO REGISTER. It was reported.

No transportation will be an excuse . . . watch next week's HERALD for more details on the Jaycee's program.

Savannah Sugar Refining Corporation, producers of Dixie Crystals Sugars, today announced plans to build a refinery in the neighborhood of a hundred acres in the Glades. Several sites have been optioned in Palm Beach and Hendry Counties, one of which will be selected as the location for the new plant.

This refinery will operate on a year-round basis, with employment of more than 100 persons. Its anticipated capacity is in the neighborhood of a hundred million pounds of refined sugar a year.

In making this announcement, Lawton M. Culbertson, President of Savannah Sugar Refining Corporation, stated: "Our Company is delighted that its plans for a new refinery will further cement relations with the State of Florida, where we have done business for the more than forty six years of our Company's operations. Not only do we purchase a very large volume of raw sugar from the Everglades area, amounting to well over $45,000,000 for the 1952-53 crop season, but Florida has always been one of our largest marketing areas for refined sugars. We look forward eagerly to this new relationship, and have a keen awareness of the opportunity that this new venture presents."

The building of this new refinery in Florida will not affect the operation of this Company's refinery at Savannah, at present the fourth largest cane sugar refinery in the United States. It is designed to better serve Florida's rapidly expanding population, its burgeoning food-processing industry and to provide a new market for the increasing volume of raw sugar being produced in the Everglades.

Two new school centers for Belle Glade were approved in the school budget adopted July 31, by Palm Beach County Board of Public Instruction.

The improvement program, now underway, will provide a better western outlet for Lake Okechobee and will have a basin area of 1,200 square miles in three counties. The FCD is providing land and right-of-way for the project.

Construction is being handled by the Army Corps of Engineers which will have permanent jurisdiction over the Caloosahatchee River as part of the federal waterway project.

Construction contracts now let on the river project total $10.3 million, said Riley C. Miles, Kissimmee FCD chairman.

They include deepening and widening jobs and construction of a spillway-lock structure across the river at Olga.

Additional Rooms To The Nurses' Quarters

Additional rooms to the nurses' quarters (right) and a new residence for the Hospital Administrator (left), plus additional toilet facilities in the present hospital building, are included in the first phase of construction to get underway soon at Belle Glade Memorial Hospital.

The present nurses' home is not ample to provide for the present staff, and more housing will be needed for additional nurses.

When the new hospital is built a member of the Hospital Board reminded. The administrator's home, located on the site where the new 75-bed hospital, will be constructed, must be demolished. A new three-bed room, two bath residence will be constructed just north of the nurses' quarters. Hospital administrator E. F. Saunders announced this week that bids will be opened Monday, August 12, on this work and contracts let immediately thereafter.

Florida Residents May Obtain Proof Of Age From Census Bureau

Last year, more than 12,000 residents of Florida turned to the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, to help in proving where and when they were born, the Bureau reported today. They needed proof of age to collect social security and other retirement benefits. They needed it to obtain passports. They needed it to qualify for jobs carrying certain age or citizenship requirements. They needed it for some forms of insurance.

These persons who requested assistance from the Census Bureau last year were among an estimated 20 million United States residents who are without proof of age or birthplace. The historical records of the Census Bureau provide the only acceptable source of this information for many of these people. Since its beginning in 1790, the U. S. Census has recorded identifying data for almost 350 million persons, many of them listed several times in separate censuses. The Bureau has provided copies of these records to about three and one-half million people, as local proof of age, place of birth, citizenship, or kinship.

Persons seeking such a record for social security purposes should go to the local Social Security Office, or, for other purposes, write to the Tucson Census, Pittsburgh, Kansas, for an application form. A fee of $3.00 is charged for a search of not more than two censuses for one person and for one copy of the information found. Additional copies cost $1.00 each. An expedited search cost $4.00. Expedited searches are usually completed within a few days while the routine $3.00 search may take up to 30 days, depending upon the backlog of requests.

The personal information in the records of the 1800 and later censuses is confidential by law and may be furnished only upon the written request of the person to whom it relates or, for a proper purpose, a legal representative such as a guardian or administrator of an estate. Information regarding a child who has not reached legal age may be obtained upon the written request of either parent.

Florida Bear Largest In Nation Special 3-Day Hunts Open Sept. 23

Applications are now being received from Florida hunters who wish to participate in the managed bear hunts in the Osceola and Apalachicola National Forests, according to A. D. Aldrich, director, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Florida black bear are rated as the largest in the nation; and because of their early retreat to impassable swamp territory, they are extremely difficult to hunt, even with excellent dogs. The Osceola National Forest, in Columbia and Baker counties in Northeast Florida and the Apalachicola National Forest in Liberty County in Northwest Florida, provide some of the best bear hunting in Florida.

Applications for the Apalachicola Bear Hunt should be filed with the Regional Manager, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, P. O. Box 576, Panama City, Florida, prior to 11:00 a. m. August 30. Hunters who wish to participate in the Osceola Bear Hunt should file application with the Regional Manager, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, P. O. Box 908, Lake City, Florida, prior to 11:00 a. m. August 30. All applications must be accompanied by a check to cover permit cost.

Regulations for the bear hunts provide for special three-day hunts beginning September 23 through November 9. Each three-day hunt will be limited to not more than 17 people, except upon approval of the hunt supervisor. Each group must obtain a $50.00 party hunt permit and each person in the party must also possess a regular hunting license.

The hunt areas for the Apalachicola Bear Hunt has been enlarged to include a portion of Liberty County south of the Apalachicola National Forest. The Osceola Bear Hunt has been enlarged to include that portion of Baker and Columbia counties north of the Osceola National Forest.

Hunters will be allowed to take bear, fox, opossum, bobcat, raccoon and rabbit. Shooting will be one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. Additional information concerning the special hunt regulations and procedures governing the drawing may be obtained by contacting either regional office.

Boating Tips...

Each of the familiar buoys shown above has a story to tell. If you haven't been "getting their messages", here's what they mean: 1) Red, even-numbered buoys—keep them on your right entering a channel or going upstream (remember, red, right, returning). 2) Black, odd-numbered buoys—keep them on your left entering a channel or going upstream. 3) Black-and-white vertical stripes—mid-channel marker which can be passed on either side. 4) Black-and-red horizontal stripes—obstruction marker which should be passed on side indicated by topmost color. For example, if the top color is red, keep the buoy on the right entering a harbor. Clear all buoys by at least 50 feet, caution! Mercury testing experts. Also, don't tie up to a buoy—it's a federal offense.

Floridians Pay 40 Percent More Income Taxes Than 5 Years Ago

Income taxes, plus other types of federal internal revenue, collected in Florida by the U. S. government, came to $1.5 billion last year, more by 40 percent than five years ago, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday in its Weekly Business Review.

"On top of this sum was an added $300 million, an estimation of the amount paid by Floridians in hidden taxes, as called because they are included in the purchase price of many articles," the trade body pointed out.

"The biggest item in the collected sum was $1,130,165,000 in individual income taxes, both withheld from salary checks and paid independently. The withheld portion accounted for 61 percent of all individual income taxes last year compared with 55 percent five years ago. The tax on individual incomes gained 46 percent in the period as wages moved upward at the same time that deductions increased.

Farm And Outdoor Safety Urged By PBC AM. Red Cross

Safety awareness and first aid knowledge, good traveling companions anywhere, are some of the more basic than on the farm, according to the American Red Cross.

Dr. Obert, chairman of the Palm Beach County Red Cross Chapter, today called upon farm families to take the high farm-accident rate as a personal challenge. In 1962, there were 8,700 deaths and 100,000 disabling injuries on farms.

He lists falls motor vehicles and farm machinery among the chief causes of accidents.

Dr. Obert said accidental injury on farms usually occurs far away from hospitals and professional medical or rescue help.

"In many cases, proper treatment within seconds is essential if the victim's life is to be saved," he said. "The victim can use some of the Red Cross-taught skills to help himself unless he is unconscious."

Farm families and others who see much of the outdoors should know especially how to care for bites by animals and poisonous snakes and bites or stings by insects.

In all animal bites, take into account the possibility of rabies. Wash the wound thoroughly to remove the saliva, scrubbing with a kuzze compress and soap and water. Rinse with clean running water and apply a sterile dressing. Always consult a doctor at once Dr. Obert said.

In all wounds, the danger of tetanus should be considered. Puncture wounds, especially those contaminated by hay or soil, have the highest incidence of tetanus, according to Dr. Obert, but many cases of tetanus result from wounds so insignificant the patient hardly recalls them. The particular need is for medical attention and possible immunization against tetanus.

Dr. Obert said certainly every farm family—and for that matter, every family which may go for an occasional hike or picnic—should be able to recognize poison ivy and poison sumac.

When a person is exposed to any of these, he said, he should wash the exposed part with soap and water as soon after the exposure as possible, then sponge it with rubbing alcohol. Following this, calamine lotion may be applied.

Heat exhaustion and sun stroke are two other situations for which farm families should know the symptoms and first aid.

The more common, heat exhaustion, may be recognized because the patient feels unusual tired and has headache and nausea. In severe cases, perspiration is profuse, and clammy, the skin pale and clammy. The body temperature is approximately normal. Vomiting may occur, but unconsciousness is rare.

Recommended first aid: keep victim lying down, warm, give a salt solution of one-half teaspoon per half glass of water every 15 minutes for 3 or 4 doses. Medical attention is needed for severe illness.

The usual evidence of sunstroke is a flushed face, dry skin, hot touch, and a rapid pulse. Heat stroke is extremely dangerous. Treatment: Medical care is urgently needed. Reduce body temperature by sponging body with lukewarm water or alcohol—give salt solution in small doses.

44% Of Fla. Property Is Homestead Exempt

Taxable real estate in Florida was valued last year at $10,225,000,000 by assessors for tax gathering purposes, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday in its Weekly Business Review. Said the organization's spokesman:

"This sum included the value of the land, plus the values of homes, buildings and property improvements such as canals and dikes. The figure showed a gain of almost 300 percent over a ten-year period."

"A number of factors combined to bring about the upward push in property values. First, the demand for land itself is stronger; second, the number of homes and buildings in 1962 was considerably greater than ten years previously."

"Another force which accounts for a part of the gain is the trend toward assessing property at its full value. Today three counties assess at 100 per cent value; 12 other assess at least 75 per cent of value and another eleven fall between 60 and 75 percent."

"Personal property and intangible property (stocks, bonds and bank deposits) are not included in these tabulations."

Rev. James A. Fenton will observe his second anniversary as pastor of First Baptist Church of South Bay on Sunday.

During the past 24 months the church has seen continual growth with nearly $65,000 dollars worth of new building and equipment.

The church has accepted into its membership through baptism and by letter some 95 members. The Sunday School has jumped in its average attendance from 101 in 1962 to an average of 126 in 1962 and 139 in 1963 church year. The Tithes and Offerings during the past 24 months total well over that of $30,000 dollars which is a record as far as First Baptist Church of South Bay.

Rev. Fenton is a member of the Belle Glade Area Ministerial Association and is president of the Belle Glade Evangelical Association which he led out in the great E. J. Daniels Revival Campaign held in Belle Glade in 1963.

While serving in South Bay

he has also served several committees of the Association and Florida Baptist Convention. He is a co-worker with the State Music Department in Jacksonville as District Representative for the church Music Department of the Convention. Rev. Fenton is also Associated Music Director of Big Lake Baptist Association.

Rev. Fenton said, "the door behind us is closed but the door is wide open ahead for Christians to do more for God and the church."

Rev. Fenton will be preaching Sunday morning on "Faith, A New Belief in God," and on New Year's Eve, "The Good News of Salvation."

He encourages each member of the church and of the Sunday School to be present for the Sunday services.

A Days Journey Without Jesus

Mary and Joseph took it for granted that the young child was in the company, but found that he had gone a day's journey without him.

Have you not been guilty of this same thing? Have you spent a day without the Lord being with you? Did you go to the parents did take it for granted that he was with some other member and you would receive the benefits of his presence?

Religion is a personal matter. He is either with you or he is not. His disciples tried to cross the sea without Him, but the storm moved them. The storms of life will overwhelm you if you have left the Lord behind.

If He is not with you, you left Him. He did not leave you. Was it under the cloak of darkness that sin caused you to leave the Lord? Was it in the fit of anger that you took His name in vain? Was it the false hood you told to gain a vantage point in a business deal? Where did you leave Him?

He can be found at the place He left you. Go correct the wrong done, make restitution for the wrong done. Repent and pray God for forgiveness.

Life will be more meaningful if you have the Lord of glory walking with you. You cannot walk together, except they are agreed.

Stolen Glade Car Recovered Here

George M. Hughes, 37, is being held in the county jail awaiting disposition by Federal authorities on charges of transporting a stolen vehicle over the state line.

Hughes was apprehended by deputy Hilton Bonard in South Bay last week when the officer observed irregularities in Hughes' driving.

He was tried August 5, before magistrate Judge Tyson on charges of driving while intoxicated, driving without a license and the fact that he could produce no papers and gave conflicting stories on the car he was driving and bound over to the criminal court.

The stolen car was picked up by Hughes in Savannah. The prisoner was convicted in Oct. '61 on a similar charge and just recently released from Raiford.

Local Jehovah Witnesses To Attend 3-Day Summer Assembly In Orlando

Miles P. Crum, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, has officially announced that the witnesses of Florida Circuit No. 18 will hold their summer assembly in Orlando, August 16-18, at the Orlando Municipal Auditorium, located at West Livingston Ave.

Mr. Crum said that he expects 40 from Belle Glade to attend the three-day meeting.

Over 1000 delegates from 17 congregations are expected to attend.

Mr. Crum said, "the assembly is not a revival; it is held to encourage application of true Christian principles and further instruct our association of ministers." The assembly will carry as its theme "Right Kind of Ministers," applying the principle of First Baptist Church.

Northside Baptist Begins Bible School August 16

Registration and Preparation Day will be held for Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Northside Extension Chapel on August 16, according to Rev. Lowell Crawford, associate pastor of First Baptist Church.

The school will open August 19 and continue through August 23. All children in the Northside of Belle Glade are invited to attend.

Vacation Time

"See then that you walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The Belle Glade Church of Christ, 125 N. W. Avenue D, would like to encourage you to remember three things about vacation time.

1. Be sure to worship the Lord.

2. Remember your financial obligation to the home congregation.

3. Continue to avoid evil.

Radio Sermon Saturday 10:45 a. m. Found to Be Liars

TODAY'S meditation

Read Matthew 18:7-14

If a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, do he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray? (Matt. 18:12).

A small boy strayed from a vacation camp and became lost. When found, he asked his mother, "What would have happened if you had not found me?"

There could, of course, be no positive answer. We know the search would have continued, the parents would have worried and grieved, and memories of the tragedy would have lingered with those who loved him. Probably someone would have felt the guilt of negligence, too.

A similar question comes to mind concerning the lost — those without Christ. What will happen if they are not rescued?

As professed Christians, it is our duty to search out those who are "out of the fold" and lead them to salvation. It will take time, prayer, patience, even personal sacrifice. We are accountable for carrying on the work of our Lord. Our Christian duty demands it.

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us to understand the great importance of spreading the gospel among men on earth. Give us wisdom, courage, and strength to lead others on to the path of righteousness. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

HOW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALS

"WHAT ABOUT YOUR FUTURE?"

WSWN 800 k. c. Sundays 12:45 p. m.

I was a little girl, then. The pews at our church were rough wooden benches, and my feet wouldn't reach the floor.

But, as though it were yesterday, I remember his sermon. About a man who poured oil on the feet of Jesus. Some people said this was a wasteful thing to do. The oil was expensive; the money might have been given to the poor. . . . But Jesus wasn't angry with the woman!

"In the eyes of God," our old minister said, "the most precious treasure is the love in a human heart."

No single thought has influenced my life more than that one. Most of my happiness — all of my strength when sorrows come — have been somehow entwined with that simple truth. I shudder at times to think; what if that day I had not been there?

A sermon, a prayer, a Bible passage does not touch the same chord in every heart. But as you seek each Sunday to see life through the eyes of God, there will come mighty visions stirring the depths of your soul.

Belle Glade's Didi Mills Played Entire Game With All-Star Team

The South All-Stars made a close game, winning both basketball and football games Aug. 3, in Gainesville.

It was a close contest for the South basketball team, defeating the North all-stars 58 to 57 in a very game close game throughout the contest.

The South's football team had full control most of the game. Palm Beach County was well represented with our own Didi Mills playing the entire game as defensive linebacker and doing an outstanding job.

From West Palm Beach were Dan Gifford, center and line-backer, who intercepted a pass to set up a touchdown.

Lance Winter, also from Palm Beach, who played a fine game at quarterback.

Clewiston's Bruce Waldron turned in an excellent job at guard and linebacker.

The South scored in the 2nd quarter on a 48 yard march with Dave Hiss, all-state half-back from Miami leading the march and scoring. The South scored the second touchdown in the second quarter on a recovered fumble, scoring in four plays from the North's 20 yard line. The score at half-time was 12 to 0 in favor of the South.

In the third quarter the North made a threat in recovering a fumble on the South's 15 yard line and scored in 5 plays, making the score 12-6; but the South scored the game up in the fourth quarter, when Gifford intercepted a North pass on the 30 and Winter engineered a drive of 40 yards for the touchdown. The extra point was good and the game ended 18-6 in favor of the South.

A record of 12,000 people attended the game including many folks from the Glades, and saw a fine performance by the All-Star Band at half-time.

State's Fourth Largest Independent Dairy Formed With Merger Of Alfur And Boutwell

Consolidation of Alfur and Boutwell dairies last week to Alfur-Boutwell Dairy, Inc., formed the fourth largest independent milk distribution firm in Florida.

Merging the two operations of Alfur and Boutwell permits more economic and efficient operation as well as top quality control, officials say. This permits meeting competition from large national dairy groups, they said.

Headed by the new firm is Alfur R. Nielsen, chairman of the board. Management of the two plants in West Palm Beach and Lake Worth will be headed by Gordon Nielsen, president, and George Boutwell, secretary-treasurer. June Boutwell and Alfur Nielsen are vice-presidents, and Alfur Nielsen, executive vice-president.

The East Coast area from Ft. Lauderdale to Fort Pierce and the Glades from Canal Point to Moore Haven will be served by the new company's approximately 150 trucks.

The truck fleet and garage will be located at the Boutwell plant, where 20 acres of land is available for expansion, the management reported.

Ice cream, an item not previously handled by the Boutwell firm, will now be delivered by Boutwell trucks. Routes which overlap will eventually be consolidated, the management said.

Milk distributors are being hurt by a price war in chain stores and consolidation is expected to help stabilize dairy industry prices. While farmers receive a fixed price, processors receive no protection from government price-fixing agencies.

Unit costs will be lowered by processing more dairy products and ice cream at the time, Nielsen said. This was the major factor, along with a desire to continue as locally owned operations, in bringing the two companies together.

There will be no immediate change in milk prices, officers of the new company declared.

Alfur is the older firm, having been established by Alfur R. Nielsen and James W. Gooding in 1930.

Boutwell Dairy was started in 1934 by W. A. Boutwell, Sr., and his sons, George and Art, and daughter, June. The senior Boutwell retired in 1945 and turned his business over to his children.

The two dairies are major suppliers of milk to Palm Beach County School cafeterias as the result of being low bidders on a contract with the School Board.

Volume of business to be handled by the new corporation is estimated between five and seven million dollars annually. Annual payroll is in excess of one million dollars.

Jim Maxham Is New Service Mgr.

"Jim" Maxham has been appointed Service Manager for Belle Glade's Everglades Motor Company, and will also introduce the newly initiated Dealer-Ford Company joint program of re-examining customer relations and practices, general manager Alfur Nielsen announced this week.

As head of the "trouble shooting department" Jim will give ear to your Post problems if any, try to handle them locally, and get aid and advice from the Ford Company whenever necessary.

The Customer Relations Manager post was created as a result of the Company's recent marketing research studies to identify generally causes of customer complaints, and the degree to which dealers are successful in satisfying complaining customers. It pointed out a direct relationship between customer service and complaint handling and Ford owner loyalty.

Maxham has had 25 years experience in the Service business, 13 years in Florida. He comes here from Clewiston, and will this month move his family, wife Constance, and six children to Belle Glade.

Hurricane Special

Flood Control Now Provides Protection To Over One Million Florida Residents

The day was little different from any other day. Some of the early rises paused in front of the Belle Glade Hotel and remarked that it seemed to be considerably cooler than during the past few months.

Naturally there was some talk of radio reports that a hurricane had hit Puerto Rico, but that island was a long way from Lake Okechobee and besides, radio reception was of such poor quality during the past 24 hours one could not be at all sure what the true reports were.

The date was Sept. 16. The year 1928. The Sunday morning was as routine as hundreds of preceding Sunday mornings in this rural agricultural area, and there was absolutely no indication that before the next dawn many of those talking about the weather and some 2,400 of their friends and neighbors would be dead.

By evening everyone was aware that the Lake was rising at an unprecedented rate, and a few more fearful residents started nailing a few pathetic pieces of scrap lumber over their windows.

By the time scattered reports arrived by radio that the hurricane had crashed into the Palm Beaches with 160-mile winds, it was too late to do anything about it.

There were only two escape routes. North to Sebring, and this would require skirting the shore of the much feared lake or east to West Palm Beach, and this meant driving right into the eye of the approaching storm.

By 9 p. m. water had reached the second story of some homes in low locations, and many had abandoned their homes to take shelter in one of the two Belle Glade hotels.

When the hurricane hit it literally drove the water in Lake Okechobee north, and the Lake level in Belle Glade dropped one foot. But, when the eye of the hurricane passed, the wind came from the opposite direction and forced the water of the lake back into the south end.

An idea of what happened can be imagined by thinking of a tilted pan of water. When the first half of the hurricane hit, the pan was tilted so the water ran to the north. But when the storm came from the opposite direction the pan tilted back and the water broke through the small retaining dikes at the south end of the lake drowning thousands.

No one will ever know how many died that night. There have been various estimates, but no one will ever know for sure. For more than one week rescue workers were finding bodies and bringing them to temporary morgues established in every town around the lake.

It soon became necessary to collect the bodies in piles, douse them with gasoline and cremate them. Still later the bodies were cremated where they were found.

Because hundreds of migrant workers, in from the Bahamas, were among the casualties it was almost impossible to identify them. Many were known to their fellow workers only by their nicknames.

When it was over the hurricane resulted in the third greatest disaster in the history of the United States. But this disaster, much in the same manner as it takes a pedestrian fatality before a warning traffic light will be erected, resulted in focusing the nation's attention on the need for flood control in Florida.

The 1928 hurricane disaster can't be repeated because the Herbert Hoover Dike built since then on the shore of Lake Okechobee, is designed to hold back hurricane tides. But this does not mean that the Central and South Florida Flood Control Project is so far along it would eliminate all disasters. It must be remembered that this gigantic water control program, birthed by the great flood 35 years ago and by subsequent floods and drought, is still less than one-third completed.

The Flood Control Project was authorized by Congress in 1948 — the year after another flood inundated over 3 million acres, causing damage of $60 million. Great strides, accomplished since 1948, have eliminated much of the danger. Hurricane procedures established by the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District coupled with hundreds of miles of FCD canals, levees, dikes and water control structures today protect more than a million residents of Central and South Florida against severe flood damage.

Ed Dail, Executive Director of the FCD, assures South Florida residents that as soon as a hurricane warning is received FCD personnel will immediately go into action with a pre-designated plan as to just what to do to provide residents with maximum protection.

For example, certain water control structures will be closed; others will be opened fully to permit maximum drainage. In general, Dail points out, structures inland will be closed so excess water may be collected in the FCD's three big water conservation areas, and structures near the sea coast will be opened.

In the event of a flood alert, nine giant FCD pumping stations will go into operation 24 hours a day with all crews on duty complete with supplies and emergency power necessary to remain in operation through the emergency.

Radio contact will be on a 24-hour basis between the pumping stations and the brain center of the entire operation located at FCD Headquarters on Evernia Street, in West Palm Beach. In charge will be Zeb Grant, Operations Director.

This is no experimental plan, but was in effect when the last hurricane, Donna, struck the Florida peninsula in 1960 and is credited with preventing $27 million in flood damages during that storm.

Areas unprotected by FCD works sustained more than $19,700,000 damages, dramatically pointing the necessity of completing the entire FCD program as rapidly as possible, Dail noted.

IN THE EVENT OF A HURRICANE ...

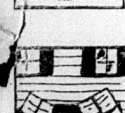

Keep a close check on the gas in your car to see that it is full in case an emergency arises and you need transportation. Have a qualified man check your tires and battery to see that your auto is in condition to transport you and your family to a shelter if necessary.

Food is essential to any family during a hurricane so see that you have enough to see you through the hurricane. But only canned foods and food that will need no refrigeration and no cooking other than a slow heat from a sterno stove.

A flashlight is a must for every family. Be positive that the batteries are good and that you have batteries for a portable radio available. A first aid kit and a fire extinguisher are handy items to have around if the need arises.

Store all objects that may be tossed around by high winds. Toys, tools, trash cans, lawn furniture and the like all represent possible killers. Be sure that all windows are securely boarded.

If you live in the lowlands or anywhere near water that can overflow, go to the nearest shelter. Storm floods can do serious damage and are a possible disease carrier so stay away from flooded areas.

KEEP THIS CHECKLIST HANDY

The eye of a hurricane has fooled many people and caused untold casualties. Don't be fooled by the initial lull. Stay inside till you hear that it is safe to go out. A hurricane strikes, takes a breather and then hits from the other side.

Listen to your radio for all the storm information from the weather bureau, civil defense, Red Cross, and the other authorities. You will learn all the pertinent information from these sources for hurricane safety.

Do not drive unless an emergency arises. Too many cars will clutter the roads for the police and ambulances. If you do go out, keep a sharp eye peeled for broken pavement and downed power lines. They are dangerous.

If you see a downed power wire or broken water or sewer pipe in your area, report it to the proper authorities or to a policeman that will be checking your neighborhood. Do not touch any wires that may appear to be dead.

Use your phone for emergency only. Switchboards will be jammed and a call for help may be delayed because of your social chatter. If you receive a call, hang up immediately and tell the party that you will call them later.

THE FORCES OF FREEDOM

Writing in Nation's Business, Secretary of State Rusk says that several highly important global forces are now acting in our favor and to the long-run advantage of the free world. These are: The trend toward unity in Western Europe; the rejection of communism by new nations; increasing conflict between the Soviet Union and communist China; the readiness of more countries to negotiate settlement of problems, ranging from world tared to peace.

Mr. Rusk does not exaggerate the significance of any of these hopeful developments — he is too canny and well-informed a hand to take a Pollyanna position. But, as he sees it, "to-day the strength of the free world is far greater than it was a decade ago, and the keys to a new surge of progress are in our hands. The forces at work to build a free and peaceful world community are showing even more vitality, while the forces opposed to this purpose have lost in relative strength and unity."

If this assessment is correct, we are offered a tremendous opportunity and the task ahead is to make the most of it. We must demonstrate the free world has far more to offer humanity than the slave world — and we must do that with unfaltering courage and dedication.

NEWSPAPERS ARE TOP SALESMEN

Television, like radio before it but to a far greater degree, has brought about major changes in the advertising picture. It has been an aggressive competitor with the other media, and its appetite for the advertising dollar, with the cost of producing even Grade B programs running to comparatively astronomical sums, seems insatiable.

But the power of the written word still gets top recognition.

An announcement from Sears, Roebuck and Company will interest those who like to read as well as to stare. It expects to spend more than $60 million for newspaper advertising this year. Last year the figure was $58 million, which represented 71.2 per cent of Sears' total retail media expense. The balance went to advertising through circulars, magazines, radio and television, and other media.

A spokesman tells the story: "This is tangible evidence of our continuing faith in the potency of newspaper advertising. From the day Sears opened its first retail store, the company has placed greater and greater use of newspapers. It is obvious that Sears store managers continue to regard the newspaper as their major medium for more than historical reasons. Their evaluation is based on the day-to-day results in their stores."

Television advertising is a catch-as-catch-can affair — you have to be looking at the set at the moment and it's gone in an instant. Print is durable and the prospective buyer can scan and considered it at his leisure.

WILL OUR WAY ENDURE?

A number of distinguished historians and social critics are concerned with what they consider America's almost suicidal immersion in material things.

Thus, Vance Packard, in his "The Waste Makers," writes, "The superabundance in quantity of the good things of life in the U. S. may quite possibly be producing a deterioration in the quality of life." And Arnold Toynbee tells us that the American society we have created "is unlikely to survive very long."

Dr. George Katona, Director of the Economic Behavior Program, Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, says nay to these and other prophets of disaster. He finds vast and lasting virtues in our mass consumption society. He writes in this Week Magazine, "Just as the ideal of freedom spread from America over the world, so the ideal of a good life is spreading. . . . And most important, the Communist countries are not immune. A greater and greater concern for consumer goods is evident in Russia — and the greater the better. It is the have-nots who feel they have little to lose in a third world war. Fighting for national or ideological glory, the military notions of a bygone age, appeals far less to those with a decent standard of living."

"Perhaps, when the long perspective of history falls on our age, it will be seen that America contributed as much to mankind through the development of (a) high standard of living for the masses as through the invention of liberty."

Mass production will continue to find and create new and better products of every kind — and its consumer, mass distribution will bring them to us. And if the world's dreadful troubles and angers are to be eased, it will be done not by undermining our own standard of living, but by bringing the standards of living of other nations closer and closer to ours.

UNCLE DAN from DOOLIE says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I have taken note through the years that our Congressmen are too bad about using jaw-breaking words. Once in a while one of them will swallow the dictionary but as a general rule they can keep us confused in simple tongue. I recollect when Mr. Luce was in the Congress, he came out one day on the floor of the House with a new one, "Globberony." The Congressmen raised such a ruckus about it that she fired and fell back. But now I note where we got a Congressman from New York that has took to Greek or something. In an article the other day, he ended his piece by saying, "O tempora, o mores!" I ask the feller that keeps the country store about this matter. He's got a brother-in-law that is a school teacher and ought to know about such things. He says he ain't shore but he thinks it means times has changed for the worse. If you can find out about this item Mister Editor, please let me know. In the meantime, I aim to write to this feller and tell him we got enough confusion in Washington without him speaking in one of them foreign aid languages.

I see by the papers where President Kennedy says his financial adviser has informed him 1964 will be a banner year for prosperity. I hope he is right but I ain't never had too much faith in paid advisers. I recollect reading a story when I was a boy about a King that hired a feller to advise him about the weather. He ask him one day how he figured out the weather. The feller said he just looked at the ears of his jackasses. If the ears was up it would be

All Youngsters Are Not Delinquent "To Late To Classify"

By Russell Kay

All youngsters are not delinquent and those who behave themselves resent all teen-agers having to take the rap for the few who go wrong. A group of energetic high school students in Jacksonville, members of the local Youth Council on Civic Affairs, developed an idea that they thought might help clean up the juvenile delinquency problem in their city.

They approached Municipal Judge Santora and urged him to consider a Youth Jury, made up of white and three Negro teen-agers. They would listen to the evidence and advise the judge of their judgment, with no authority to impose sentence.

There was no precedent for such action but Judge Santora, father of three boys liked the idea. Arrangements were made for the jury to sit in on juvenile cases.

Results were amazing. The young jurors judgments were so intelligent, and constructive that the judge found himself following their recommendations more often than his own.

The story is told in the August issue of the Reader's Digest and it should be read and re-read by parents, lawyers, and everyone concerned with the delinquency problem.

Offenders may fool the Court or playing off parents may affect the judge's decision but they can't fool the juvenile jury and Jacksonville offenders have developed a fear of their juvenile peers they never had for the law or the police.

Take the case of a young man arrested for speeding and driving while intoxicated, who had caused a serious accident. The offender appeared in court with a cocky air, he was wearing blue jeans and long sideburns with a ducktail haircut. He kept his hands in his pockets even when facing the judge. He didn't influence the jury one bit. They recommended suspension of his driver's license even four weekends in the hospital emergency ward where he could Witness torn and maimed bodies and mutilated corpses brought in. The judge let their nuptial stand and the youthful offender learned a lesson he will never forget.

Another case was a young man of good family. He had been in drag and lost control of his car on a curve. Defended by his parents as a good boy they provided a capable lawyer. The judge of neither points nor the lawyer carried weight with the youthful jury. They knew a spoiled brat when they saw one. They threw the book at him. Suspended license for three years, 30 days in jail and a $200 fine.

The judge hid a smile behind his hand, the parents gasped and the confident lawyer was bewildered. The truculent sneer left the face of the offender. The judge decided the sentence was pretty heavy so he modified it by omitting the jail sentence but imposed the $200 fine and revoked the license for one year.

Judge Santora points to the sharp drop in Juvenile delinquency cases. The word has gotten around and kids are afraid of the juvenile jury. Other cities became interested and the judge was deluged with mail asking for more information. Parent's Magazine and the Reader's Digest told the story and juvenile juries patterned after Jacksonville's are being set up in other Florida cities and in a half dozen states.

Does your city have a juvenile problem? Better look into this new means of combatting it. It works and it builds good citizenship.

Are You Losing Social Security Benefits Due You?

Many people over 65 lose some social security checks every year. These are people who think that as long as they work and earn over $1200.00 a year they cannot draw any social security checks.

Actually, Mr. Gehrken, district manager here for social security pointed out today, many of these people could collect part of their social security even though they are still working. He said a person who earns more than $1200.00 loses only $1.00 in social security payments for every $2.00 he earns from $1200.00 to $1700.00. For every $1.00 he earns over $1700 he gives up $1.00 in benefit payments.

For example: Suppose you put in for social security and find you could be entitled to $100 a month. You plan to continue working and expect to earn $2000.00 a year. You could still collect $650.00 from social security for the year.

Also, Mr. Gehrken emphasized, people can collect a social security check for any month they do not earn over $100.00, no matter what their total yearly earnings are. Self-employed workers can draw social security for any month they are not active in their business.

Mr. Gehrken urged people over 65 who are still working, to contact their Social Security Office at 715 S. Dixie Highway, West Palm Beach for further information. A representative from the West Palm Beach Office visits Belle Glade regularly. You may inquire at the Post Office for the date of his visit.
